

Kaneka's current solar panel sales, primarily catering to residential markets, stand at approximately 10 billion yen ($69 million). With the anticipated introduction of new products, separate from the Taisei partnership, Kaneka aims to boost its BIPV sales to the same figure by the end of the decade. This expansion comes at a pivotal time.

Those kaneka panels are not even ideal for 48v, because when they get hot their max power voltage will be below battery volts. I personally would get a Classic 200 and put the panels 2 in series if I had a 48v bank. That is what I did with my First solar thin films, they had similar specs to your Kanekas.
