

Does Cabo Verde have electricity?

Imported petroleum products constitute about 80 percent of Cabo Verde's total energy supply, while less than 20 percent comes from renewable sources, primarily wind and solar. Although 93 percent of the population has access to electricity, there are significant losses in the distribution grids, and electricity costs are extremely high.

Does Cape Verde have solar power?

In 2012 Cape Verde had an installed electricity generation capacity of around 300 MW, of which about 24% from wind power plants and 3% from photovoltaic stations. While solar power has an enormous potential as a source of renewable energy, natural conditions in Cape Verde are one of the best in the world for the production of wind energy.

What is the energy sector in Cape Verde?

Cape Verde energy sector is strongly characterized by consumption of fossil fuels (derived oil—primary imported oil), biomass (wood) and use of renewable energy particularly wind and solar power.

Does Cape Verde have a wave energy potential?

In the case of Cape Verde, there is one study evaluating the wave energy potential which highlights the resource available, particularly for the northern islands, such as São Vicente. Unfortunately, the study identifies the wave resource to match that of the wind.

What percentage of Cabo Verde's energy comes from imported petroleum products?

Includes a market overview and trade data. Imported petroleum products constitute about 80 percent of Cabo Verde's total energy supply, while less than 20 percent comes from renewable sources, primarily wind and solar.

Is Cape Verde a viable alternative to fossil fuels?

Solid waste can also represent an adequate option while ocean and geothermic energy are being tested, with uncertainties remaining as to their efficiency. Cape Verde has an estimated potential of 2,600 MW of renewable energy, and more than 650 MW have been studied in concrete projects, which have lower production costs than fossil fuels.
