EnOcean GmbH is the developer of the patented energy harvesting wireless technology marketed under the Dolphin brand. Headquartered in Oberhaching, near Munich, the company produces and markets self-powered wireless sensor solutions for batteryless applications in the Internet of Things, which are used for building and industrial automation, smart homes and LED light control.

EnOcean sensors can continuously monitor the relevant environmental factors and send the measured data to the cloud or to edge components. The self-powered wireless sensors are suitable for these types of industrial applications because they can be used on moving parts or in difficult-to-access environments, e.g. to measure the flow, pressure, and ...

Perpetuum is EnOcean's customer magazine focusing on solutions and products for energy harvesting technology. The technology delivers the data for the Internet of Things in a resource-saving, self-powered and maintenance-free way. In doing so, it enables the smart use of buildings, cities and industrial plants.

EnOcean aims to enable sustainable, battery-free devices and smart solutions that reduce environmental impact and improve daily life. At the core of our success is our groundbreaking energy-harvesting technology, which converts ...

Die EnOcean-Sensormodule verwenden die Energie zudem für die Kommunikation über verschiedene Low-Energy-Funkstandards (EnOcean, Zigbee, Bluetooth). Energie aus Temperaturunterschieden ist es nicht erstaunlich, dass eine Temperaturdifferenz von nur 2 Grad Celsius ausreicht, um genug Energie für den Betrieb eines Funksensors zu erzeugen?
