Can solar energy replace fossil fuels on Pitcairn Island?

Pitcairn's authorities have launched a renewable energy project designed to replace fossil fuels with solar energy. The goal is to replace 95% of the current diesel consumption on Pitcairn Island (75,000 liters per year) with a combination of energy saving and solar electricity through the installation of a hybrid photovoltaic solar energy system.

Are the Pitcairn Islands Green?

Pitcairn Islands, a group of five islands with a total area of 47 km² and which constitute one of the most remote archipelagos in the world, turn to safer, greener energies that best meet the needs of the population. Pitcairn's authorities have launched a renewable energy project designed to replace fossil fuels with solar energy.

Are hybrid microgrids a viable option for remote island communities?

With the Energy Transition, these remote communities are considering their Renewable power options. Hybrid Microgrids are an attractive option to increase the use of Renewables whilst maintaining grid stability and reliability. For purposes of this article, I will concentrate on the example of remote island communities in the Western Pacific Ocean.

Can solar panels help reduce wind lulls in Samoa?

Both solutions could be installed to improve resilience, e.g. the 550 kW Wind Turbine (2 x 275 kW) site below in Samoa could easily have Solar PV panels installed on the same site to help provide electrical power in cases of wind lulls.

Pitcairn residents get all of their electricity powered through the generator pictured here. The generator stays on for only a couple of hours a day and is shut off at 10:00 sharp.
