Where is Russia's new lithium-ion battery manufacturing facility located?

Russian state-owned Rosatom State Nuclear Energy (Rosatom) has announced it will build its 3 GWh lithium-ion battery manufacturing facility in Kaliningrad, in Russia's province of the same name, sandwiched between Poland and Lithuania along the Baltic coast.

Will Russia build a lithium battery factory in 2025?

Russian nuclear energy giant Rosatom has acquired a 49% stake in Enertech International, a South Korean lithium-ion battery specialist, and has announced plans to build a gigafactory at an unspecified location in Russia. The start of production is scheduled for 2025.

When will Russia start producing lithium ion cells?

The signed agreement also includes the construction of a plant for the production of lithium-ion cells for electric vehicles and energy storage systems in Russia with a production capacity of at least 2 GWh by 2030. According to Rosatom, the start of the first production stage is planned for 2025.

What will Russia's new lithium-ion plant do?

The plant will focus on the production of lithium-ion cells and energy storage systems and will have a total annual battery manufacturing capacity of at least 3 GWh. "The signals we receive from the Russian market indicate that the production volumes we planned a year ago may be insufficient.

What are Russian batteries made of?

Their key component is a battery made from nickel, cobalt, manganese, copper, aluminum, and, of course, lithium-- metals that are now called 'battery metals.' Russia is fully self-sufficient in nickel, cobalt, copper, and aluminum; manganese is imported from several sources, and only lithium is yet a major concern.

Does Russia import lithium?

It should be noted, though, that some of the imports are then exported in the form of other compounds. Russia's internal demand for lithium is 400 to 700 metric tons. Lithium is used in the nuclear power industry, in energy storage systems, and in the production of slag-forming mixtures for ladles and lubricants for mining operations.

Thus, within a few years, Russia may have a large mining project that will fully -- and even abundantly -- meet its current domestic demand for lithium. According to Rockwood Lithium, one of the world's key lithium ...
