São Tomé and Príncipe (STP) is a stable, multi-party democracy. It is a developing country with a gross domestic product (GDP) of roughly $418.6 million and a population of 215,056 (World Bank, 2019 estimate). Due to STP's very limited revenue sources, foreign donors finance roughly 90 percent or more of its budget.

The new solid-state electrolyte, crafted from a specially optimised polymer binder combined with sulfide solid-state electrolytes, offers a safer and more efficient alternative to the liquid electrolytes currently prevalent in battery technology. Liquid electrolytes, while effective, pose risks due to their flammability and chemical reactivity.
